Long Island Lawyer Steven Pegalis Lead Presenter at California Conference

Lake Success, NY, May 10, 2016 Pegalis and Erickson, LLC is proud to announce that founding senior partner Steven E. Pegalis, Esq. will be the lead lecturer at the San Francisco, CA, prestigious 37th Annual Conference of the American Board of Professional Liability Attorneys (ABPLA). The conference features the nation's leading litigators and experts hailing from across the United States, from the challenging areas of medical malpractice and legal malpractice law.

Professionals on both sides of the legal aisle--plaintiffs' and defense counselors-- are provided a unique opportunity to exchange ideas and learn skills. The conference begins on Thursday, May 19, and runs through Saturday, May 20. Steven Pegalis will present: Perinatal Brain Injury and Patient Safety. Other topics being presented are "Licensing Board for Medical Professionals," and "Proving & Arguing Liability"

Steven E. Pegalis is the only New York Metro Area Plaintiffs' Medical Malpractice lawyer to be named 2016 "Lawyer of the Year," by Best Lawyers. As one of the nation's foremost medical malpractice trial lawyers, Pegalis advocates for seriously injured victims of negligence, and has obtained some of the highest jury verdicts and settlements. He and his firm have provided peace of mind, a sense of justice, and financial security for more than 2,000 clients. His Firm's advocacy has brought about consistent success for patients. Stacks of thank-you notes and photos from clients are among his most prized possessions. Pegalis was also recently named co-director of the groundbreaking initiative--The Patient Safety Project at New York Law School-- to contribute to medical safety and health law for the public good. Steve Pegalis is the author of American Law of Medical Malpractice, Volumes 1-3, now in its 3rd edition. He is an Adjunct Professor of Law at New York Law School and serves on the school's Board of Trustees.
